International (Anniversary) Omnis Developer Conference

Welcome

It's really exciting that so many Omnis developers have come together from all over the world, even from Australia, North and South America and all parts of Europe.

This is our first face-to-face conference for 3 years.

It has been globally three difficult and challenging years - and there are potentially more difficult years ahead of us.

We are pleased to be able to announce that we have worked hard during this time on

- Further development of Omnis Studio.
- Improvements of our services for you.
- Modernisation of our operation and our market approach.
- Development of a new product line.
- Augmentation of international staff.

Very special conference

We will present insight into all of these elements at this conference

In so far it will not be “just another Omnis conference”.

More a very special event that will set the strategic course of Omnis Software and our products and services for the future.

Very special conference

We all strongly believe and support these initiatives –

We are confident that we will be able to demonstrate to you all in these 2 days that Omnis is indeed

THE FUTURE OF APP DEVELOPMENT

Why do we believe that Omnis is 'The Future of App Development'?

Consideration for the requirements of the current market, these are:

- Fast development of applications.
- Stability.
- Sustainability.
- Flexibility to quickly react to disruptive changes.
- Realisable solutions with low resources.
- Easy maintainability.

We believe that Omnis is the tool to meet all these requirements

Studio enables single developers and small developer teams

- > To develop apps quickly.
- > With low resources.
- > Without requiring a dozen special skills.
- > With regards to the market expectations today and moving forward.
- > Apps that are stable with demonstrable provenance.
- > Sustainable.
- > Smart.
- > Simple to maintain and further develop and extend.

We believe that Omnis is the tool to meet all these requirements

This is not just another advertising claim –

- We – and you! – have proved it in the past 4 decades.
- We will add to it with our new releases and services, designed to provide you with
 - > more flexibility (both technically and business related).
 - > faster access to new features.
 - > support for faster, more efficient development.

Whilst also attracting more developers to Omnis.

Be part of the future

In summary

we don't want to only celebrate our past 40 years.
(of course we want to have a fantastic anniversary party).

We want to celebrate our own future
together with you all,
moving forward as one and growing our partnerships.

Here we go!
