Introducing the Foundry Marketplace

Build Faster. Share More.
Grow Together.

Tamino Jäger

Why do we need a Marketplace?

- Everybody builds the same basics again and again
- Useful components stay hidden inside projects
- Developers waste time reinventing solutions – rather than focussing on the core of their project
- New developers struggle to get started quickly
- Great solutions deserve more visibility

What is the Omnis Foundry Marketplace?

Implement a powerful Calendar component in your Omnis Studio application which is visually appealing, intuitive to use and interactive.

This component delivers a flexible and intuitive calendar experience that can be easily integrated into your app.

Appointments can be displayed with relative sizes and you can also show overlapping and parallel appointments.

Clicking on an appointment displays its details. Entering a new appointment is easy by just clicking in an empty space or by clicking on the plus + icon which opens a dialog to enter the details.

This Calendar component is capable of displaying multiple calendars.

The calendars and their colors can be freely configured so you can easily

Common Project

Omnis & Community Together

Omnis Foundry combines official Omnis resources with community innovation.

It will be successful if it will be driven by the Omnis Community.

> We provide visibility, infrastructure, processing

> You provide your smart components and solutions

It starts today!

- <https://www.omnis.net/store/marketplace/>
 - We start with free of charge components
 - Chargeable offers will be added soon
 - All items will be hosted on our server and can be downloaded directly from our website
 - Every ,provider' will be notified automatically about each download
- > Please submit your contributions and ask your questions to birgit.jaeger@omnis.net

What are the next steps?

Continuous Enhancements

- Omnis Studio
 - continuous addition of components
 - regular updates
 - chargeable items
 - different tags/categories
- Omnis noCode
 - separate Marketplace page

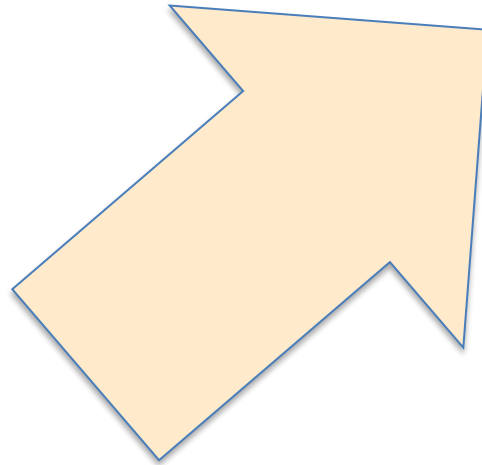

The Foundry Marketplace is part of the next generation of the Omnis platform.
